

eNASCAR Heat Pro League goes Green on REV TV Canada

July 16, 2020

Burlington ON, Canada (July 15th, 2020) — REV TV Canada, Canada's Own Motorsports Network, is pleased to announce the eNASCAR Heat Pro League ("eNHPL")—produced by Motorsport Games a global leader in videogame development for esports—will debut on REV TV Canada starting Monday July 20th at 7:30 PM ET, airing highlights and interviews from the first two rounds at virtual Homestead-Miami Speedway and Watkins Glen International.

"With success, REV TV Canada has aired Road to Indy, Mazda MX5 Cup, the Virtual 24 hours of Le Mans and the Virtual 2020 Race of Champions and the eNASCAR Heat Pro League is a welcome addition to our commitment to bring new racing content to our loyal viewers during this unique time" said Mike Garrow President of REV TV Canada. "It has been an honour to once again work with Motorsport Games who have been at the forefront in delivering innovative and compelling content."

With a twelve (12) race season, along with the wild card race and the Championship finals, and $200,000 in prize money on the line, fans will see some of the very best pro-gamers representing prominent NASCAR race teams, including Hendrick Motorsports GC, Team Penske eSports, and Gibbs Gaming, to name just a few in the 2020 Season. Dmitry Kozko, CEO, Motorsport Games, said: "The eNASCAR Heat Pro League continues to gain momentum and grow its audience with an increasing number of fans tuning in to watch some incredible racing. This new agreement with REV TV will enable the league to reach an even wider audience and speaks to the quality of the show the Motorsport Games provides on NASCAR Heat. We look forward to an exciting close to the season."